MONTPELIER

Lane Manufacturing Co. Sues Marshall L. Wood for $14,000.

The civil suit of Lane Manufacturing company vs. Marshall L. Wood was filed in Washington county court Wednesday afternoon. The suit is to recover $14,000, which it is claimed the defendant owes the plaintiff and has not paid. There is a stipulation attached to the papers which provides that both waived the provisions of the statutes relative to filing the case in 21 days and which stipulated that the case would not be filed within 60 days. There has been rumor for a long time that papers had been served in the case. They were served Aug. 1 but nothing authentic could be secured until the filing occurred Wednesday afternoon. The suit is understood to have connection with the defendant's recent management of the plaintiff company.

Rev. Frank Blomfield has gone to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he will attend the national council of Congregational churches.

The dance in the armory in Montpelier last evening, with Carroll's orchestra furnishing music, attracted over 100 couples.

Arthur Sun, who has not seen his sister, Mrs. Gertrude Sun Upton Hunt, for 17 years, surprised her Wednesday by calling upon her. Mrs. Hunt will probably be a witness in the Broadway murder case. She has been in Springfield and came back Wednesday morning. Her brother left home when young and Mrs. Hunt had not seen him since. He has been in the army since he was 15 years old. He is now 22. He wore a Canadian uniform, having been assigned by the United States army as inspector of motor apparatus in the flying section at St. Michel in the Canadian department. He was gassed and wounded once while in service. He recently returned to Ohio when an effort was made to have him remain as inspector at the Wright aeroplane factories he took a discharge and came to Montpelier to see his sister.

The regular meeting of Montpelier city council took place Wednesday evening. It seemed like old times when the council used to sit around a table in the old office and the reporters sat at one side, the council chamber having been given up to the use of the teachers' convention. Routine business was done. James Ewing appeared relative to repairs on the street named in his honor and the finance committee and street committee will look over the conditions there. J. M. Ballou of the Capital Poultry association appeared, contradicting the reference that had been made that they left the city hall dirty after the last show and assuring the council that they would clean it after the next one. The council then voted to remove the rental of $10 a day, providing city hall be cleaned satisfactorily to the property committee. Dustin Moulton addressed the council at some length on his ideas of street construction. It appeared that he wanted some bushes cut and the matter was referred to the street committee. The matter of putting in a sewer under the Menard barber shop was left to the committee on sewers. The lighting company was given authority to construct its lines 1,000 feet on Hill street to the Crozier farm. The matter of helping the city of Corpus Christi, Tex., was referred to the Board of Trade, the city council having no authority to appropriate money for such a cause. The matter on public policy on the national thrift campaign was left with Mayor Shurtleff. The council voted that the office of streets be assessed against abutters at the rate of two cents a square foot for their portion of the street frontage. Alderman Farrar reported the sale of the Rae house to Thomas Corry, the house to be removed within a year and he was given authority to give a bill of sale with such requirements as are wise in the matter. The matter of Berry & Jones' team being smashed up last spring was referred to the accounts and claims committee. It is not understood the city has any responsibility in the matter. The council rescinded its order whereby it voted to pay the wire inspector's expenses to a convention, partly because it was found that the chief of the fire department was to be away that week on his vacation, and various other reasons.

In probate court Wednesday the will of Lawson Cummings, late of Montpelier, was proven. Several of the heirs were present and the will was read by one of the heirs to the others. The will contained a few small bequests to friends and relatives, after which it provides for the distribution of the property according to law. S. H. Jackson of Barre was appointed administrator of the estate of Antonio Fasola, late of Barre.

The death of Mrs. Curtis N. Arms occurred in Montpelier Wednesday afternoon after a short illness. She was born in Waterbury Nov. 6, 1828, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Hutchins, who were the early settlers in the town, her father being the first president of the National bank of that town. She was educated in the schools of the town. When 29 years of age she was married to Mr. Arms. Two children were born to them, Edwin and Lillian, now deceased. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon.

John T. Whitney of Northfield has commenced his duties as an assistant in the office of the state engineer.

Flags have been placed in the little alcove at the left of the entrance to the representatives hall in the State House. The little bronze statue which was in this one was recently removed. It makes a very suitable place for the Spanish-American war flags, while in the alcove
